

Ron Kleiman

BenefitVision, Inc.

Long Grove, IL

Ron Kleiman is president of BenefitVision, Inc. based in Long Grove, IL. BenefitVision provides benefit communication and enrollment services to major corporate, union, and public sector clients across the country. BenefitVision provides enrollment services for organizations such as LA County, Pep Boys, Linens n Things, Harris Teeter, ARAMARK, Fulton County, etc.

The company draws heavily on Ron's extensive background in communication, particularly benefit communication.

Before forming BenefitVision in December 1994, Ron was President of Employee Benefit Services, the firm that pioneered the concept of using laptop computer presentations to bring about effective benefit communication.

Ron's transition into this unique area of benefit communication was a natural progression from his position as Chairman of the National Communication Practice Group for Mercer (the world's largest benefit consulting company). Before Mercer, he had been Vice President and National Director of Communication for the consulting firm of A. S. Hansen, and before that, Ron managed a communication unit for the benefits consulting firm Hewitt Associates. In addition to 14 years with national benefit consulting firms, Ron was Manager of Communication at General Electric's Corporate Headquarters, was in employee communication at Ford, and had been a TV reporter for the ABC affiliate in Dallas. His degree is in Journalism from Southern Methodist University.

BenefitVision, Inc.

BenefitVision is headquartered in the Chicago suburb of Long Grove, IL. Enrollment offices are in Los Angeles, CA; Harrisburg, PA; and Oklahoma City, OK. Project management is based in Cleveland, OH.

Learn more about BenefitVision, Inc at: www.benefitvision.com